

Aerospace and Defence

In Poland, we have a very strong track record of advising companies from the aerospace and defence sectors. Our client base includes the world's largest manufacturers and suppliers of equipment for civil and military aviation, as well as defence sector companies doing business in Poland.

Our sector knowledge is extensive and combined with a practical, business approach to advising clients. We have been advising clients from this sector, both local and international, for a number of years on many groundbreaking and strategically important defence and public security projects. Our in-depth knowledge and expertise make us one of the leading practices in the Polish market.

The Polish market offers excellent opportunities for sector investors. The growing number and value of public procurements and potential M&A (joint-venture) possibilities connected with the reorganisation of state-owned companies make it a very attractive place for doing business.

We fully understand the specific requirements and business needs of our clients, and offer them first class legal and tax support in a number of areas:

- entering the Polish market
- investment planning and incentives in Poland
- project structuring for purchases made by the Polish Armed Forces
- day-to-day business operations of potential Polish subsidiaries.

We also represent and advise clients on:

- public procurements of the Polish Ministry of National Defence
- negotiations of agreements
- potential offset obligations in Poland.

We are continually monitoring Polish law and, whenever necessary, help clients adjust their business objectives to the new legal environment.

What distinguishes us from our competitors is not only our knowledge and experience, but also the complexity of the services we offer.

In Poland, we provide our clients with comprehensive legal and tax support, allowing them to choose the optimal scenario before the implementation phase.
