Kristof De Vulder has over 20 years of experience in the areas of technology contracts, cyber incidents, outsourcing and complex technology transactions.

Kristof typically advises both users and suppliers of technology and outsourcing services in relation to all aspects of the procurement process, the legal issues arising with the implementation of new technologies and response to cyber incidents. He further assists clients during all stages of litigation, including pre-litigation strategies, mediation, arbitration and government courts.

His work ordinarily involves him on business critical and strategic projects or incidents all over the world. Kristof has received international recognition with respect to his technology sector work.

Kristof is the co-Managing Partner of the Belgian offices.

경력

During his career, Kristof has advised global technology suppliers, major IT-buyers, software companies and public sector bodies with almost any type of technology and sourcing transaction that exists, ranging from global application management outsourcing, multi-jurisdictional business process outsourcing to the creation of standard suites of agreements and cloud computing advice. Kristof has also assisted clients with major IT-litigation cases.

Examples of typical projects include:

- Advising a global technology company in the framework of a major ERP implementation project by a European Institution

- Advising a government company in the framework of the procurement of data centre outsourcing services
- Advising a global life sciences company in connection with five major multi-jurisdictional outsourcing agreements, including an application support outsourcing and an HR business process outsourcing
- Advising clients regarding their cloud strategy, including the review of cloud contracts, the negotiation of such contracts and the drafting of cloud 'overlay' contracts
- Advising on a multi-jurisdictional F&A business process outsourcing between a leading technology company and an international bank
- Drafting and negotiating an offshore application development and maintenance agreement between a payroll service provider and one of the largest offshore service providers in India
- Assisted a world leader in the packaging industry in the preparation and negotiation of a global telecom deal following which all of its sites transferred all of their telecom service requirements (data, fixed and mobile) to a single supplier
- Provided assistance to a Belgian public company on a dispute following termination for cause of a public procurement contract for the major development of customised software. This case is unique both in terms of technical complexity (eg thousands of pages of meeting reports, test reports, etc) and in terms of complexity of the underlying legal issues (eg government contracting terms), particularly regarding the unprecedented termination of a public procurement contract of such value, duration and importance
