The IP Action Plan: Ontario's strategic plan to drive innovation and improve the post-COVID economic recovery

22 JUL 2020

On July 17, 2020, the government of Ontario announced the province's first Intellectual Property Action Plan, following recommendations of an Expert Panel on Intellectual Property (IP). The action plan will extend the work of the expert panel and is aimed at driving the province's long-term economic competitiveness by prioritizing the generation, protection, and commercialization of IP. The plan highlights the importance of IP in Ontario's economy, and its key role in growth as the economy recovers from the COVID-19 related downturn.
