Traditional rules of international taxation based on territorial concepts have become increasingly difficult to apply in this context. Our international tax professionals are on the cutting edge of transactions in this arena, regularly helping clients address the multitude of tax issues relating to intellectual property assets.
- Tax Controversy - Our lawyers represent clients in disputes and refund claims concerning international transactions, transfer pricing and related tax issues, often obtaining large refunds or assessment reductions. When defending clients in tax audits, we also focus aggressively on refund opportunities, striving to obtain optimal results in contested matters. Our experience includes devising tax strategies to minimize government assessments, managing tax audits, fact finding, communicating with the government and, where necessary, litigation.
- VAT and Customs Duties - The increasing globalization of business, combined with new technologies and ways of doing business, can give rise to unexpected sales tax liabilities (eg VAT in Europe and GST in Australia). Our VAT team advises clients on the incidence of VAT, planning techniques for minimizing irrecoverable input VAT, registration and compliance, negotiating successful settlements and appealing assessments, and customs duties.
- Supply Chain and Distribution Network Restructuring - We have extensive experience in assisting multinational companies in supply chain management and distribution arrangements. For example, our Asia offices regularly assist multinational companies structure complex supply chain arrangements throughout the region. - Equity Investment and Incentives Tax Services - Our equity investments and incentives team has considerable experience advising on, designing and implementing all tax, corporate and commercial aspects of executive and employee incentive structures. In addition, we provide senior executives with access to equity value through innovative, tax-efficient share structures without requiring a substantial initial payment or tax charge.
- Corporate Tax Advisory Services - Our corporate tax advisory work forms the core of the tax services we provide, both within the United States and internationally. Our lawyers regularly help clients structure their international operations to lower their worldwide effective tax rate. Our lawyers also deal with all aspects of corporate and commercial taxes representing public and private companies, both buyers and sellers, in international mergers and acquisitions around the world. We know how to structure mergers, acquisitions, takeovers, reorganizations, and other corporate transactions, which very often are tax driven, and work to reduce tax both on the transaction itself and going forward. We help clients integrate acquired businesses in a tax-effective manner and also advise on the tax implications of structured finance, leasing, and collective investment arrangements.
