Alina's competition expertise includes advising and representing clients in front of the Competition Council on sector inquiries, investigations and dawn raids. She also analysed the competition aspects of several M&As and provided legal advice on day-to-day activities for companies active in healthcare, retail, telecommunications and fast moving consumer goods.

Alina has been involved in various regulatory matters related to the activity of pharmaceutical companies and their compliance with the legal framework. She has more than eight years' experience advising companies mainly from the life sciences sector but also FMCG & retail, advertising or energy. Focusing her activity on the life sciences market, Alina's portfolio of clients included key innovative players on the market in Romania whom she advised on a wide array of regulatory aspects as well as competition-related issues.
