Annelies Verlinden is a regulatory lawyer with a focus on administrative and environmental law. She is especially involved in public procurement proceedings and public private partnerships.

She has a lot of practical experience in guiding and counselling the government as well as private partners in the realisation of infrastructure and other projects.

Annelies also has knowledge of procedures before the civil court and the Council of State.

Her areas of experience and advice cover litigation (before the civil courts, the Council of State and the Constitutional Court) and public and administrative law (in general), public procurement and public private partnerships, restructuring in the public sector, environmental law such as renewable energy, in particular off shore wind energy and complex contracting in this respect (i.a. FIDIC contracts), zoning and planning law, concession agreements, public utilities and entities, and other topics of public law such as grants, expropriation and taxes.

Annelies is the co-Managing Partner of the Belgian offices.

Annelies provides services to DLA Piper UK LLP through a limited liability company.
