Pam Begaj Loutos helps clients solve complex disputes in a variety of areas.

She is an experienced commercial litigator who represents clients in federal and state courts and arbitrations nationwide. Her practice currently focuses on telecommunications, healthcare, and various other types of general business-to-business litigation. She advises clients in other sophisticated business litigation, including professional accounting liability, securities litigation, investigations, and class actions. Pam also has an active pro bono practice.

Whether advocating for large corporations, smaller companies, or her pro bono clients, Pam invests the time to understand their needs and achieve results.
