Jen Burt focuses her practice on international corporate restructurings, advising clients with respect to complex cross border transactions across a range of industries. She manages both external and internal transactions including acquisitions, carve outs, post-acquisition integrations and legal entity rationalizations. Jen brings a strong client perspective to her practice by, leveraging her years as in-house tax counsel at publicly traded companies to anticipate client needs and complete transactions efficiently and cost-effectively, with minimal disruption to day-to-day operations.

• Tax

Jen has represented large multinational companies in the following global corporate reorganizations:

- The acquisition and integration of a life science business valued at $21B for a US public company
- A global reorganization with significant regulatory implications for a Fortune 100 company, the value of which exceeded $2 billion
- The post-acquisition integration of operations involving 40 jurisdictions and multiple disciplines for a Fortune 100 company, the transaction value of which exceeded US$5.5 billion
- A carve out of a US public company's digital finishing business to private equity across 8 jurisdictions
- A global legal entity rationalization across North America, South America, and Asia for a Fortune 500 financial services company
- The post-acquisition integration of operations across multiple jurisdictions in Asia for a leading biopharmaceutical solutions company
- The ongoing corporate implementation of cross border transactions for a large public conglomerate
