John Cusack has over 30 years' experience in corporate and finance law. He focuses his practice on the structuring and formation of private investment vehicles and their management companies.

As the Global Co-Chairman of DLA Piper's Finance group, he has extensive experience representing sponsors of private equity funds in their internal and external matters. John also represents those firms in a variety of corporate transactions, including capital markets transactions and mergers and acquisitions.

John's clients cover a wide range of sectors, including real estate, debt, infrastructure, buy-out, energy and growth opportunities. He represents fund clients in their underlying investment and financing activities, and he also represents clients in the formation of portfolio and other operating companies, as well as in joint ventures, co-investments, and other structured investment activities.
