

Brett Feldman

Associate

brett.feldman@dlapiper.com

Philadelphia

T: +1 215 656 2448

F: +1 215 606 2048

Brett Feldman is a former federal law clerk and experienced litigator. He has represented individuals, businesses of all sizes, major research institutions, and healthcare providers and facilities before state and federal regulators, in trial and appellate courts, and throughout alternative dispute resolution proceedings. He has experience handling matters across a broad spectrum of highly regulated industries, including healthcare, financial services, and insurance.

- Litigation, Arbitration and Investigations

Admissions

- Pennsylvania
- New Jersey

Clerk Experience

Brett clerked for Chief Judge Juan R. Sanchez of the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania from 2018 to 2019.

Education

- J.D., Temple University School of Law 2016

Publications

Harnessing the power of data analytics to drive compliance

19 September 2022
Practical Compliance

The age of data analytics in corporate compliance programs and regulatory enforcement is here.

UPDATE: Supreme Court to review government's ability to dismiss qui tam complaints

29 June 2022

There currently exists a three-way split on this issue.

Antitrust regulators focus on private equity

21 June 2022

The consent order imposes a ten-year pre-transaction approval and notification requirement on JAB and on the required divestiture purchaser.

COVID-19 two years in: Four key trends in the state of compliance

17 March 2022

Practical Compliance

What it means to be compliant today is not what it meant in March 2020.

Third Circuit deepens circuit split on government's ability to dismiss qui tam complaints over relator's objection

11 November 2021

When is the government entitled to dismiss a relator's complaint over the relator's objection? The split among the circuits deepens.

- Co-author, "Shielding Corporate Execs from Depositions After GM Ruling," Law360, June 16, 2021
- Contributor, "What OIG Rule Change Means For Health Care Innovation," Law360, March 29, 2022