Malcolm Jezewski is an Australian-qualified construction lawyer with extensive experience in contentious and non-contentious matters. He has acted for principals and contractors across the Middle East, Asia and Australia on complex large-scale infrastructure and engineering projects under leading institutional rules including DIAC, ICC, UNCITRAL, LCIA and SIAC.

Malcolm has acted for clients on some of the most challenging and complex engineering projects including hospitals, nuclear energy plants, international airports, and oil and gas processing facilities. He has also held a number of inhouse roles, including most recently as General Counsel of a major national Australian construction and engineering contractor.

Malcolm is particularly experienced in working closely with client's project-based personnel to develop and prepare claims in advance of formal dispute proceedings being commenced.
