WIN Wise: Liquidated damages for delay in tech disputes

30 June 2020

The current COVID-19 pandemic is wreaking havoc on businesses and their operations across sectors and geographies. The unprecedented spread of the virus has had, and will continue to have, a profound impact upon both suppliers and customers in delivering technology projects on time and to budget.

WIN

Richard is the firm's lead partner on our What In-House Lawyers Need (WIN) initiative. WIN provides in-house lawyers with resources and networking opportunities addressing the specific technical, commercial and personal aspects of working in-house. There's also an online community and resource centre – visit the website to find out more.

Richard and his team have also developed an innovative, unique and bespoke litigation managed service. Please contact him for details or read more (pdf).

DLA PIPER'S MANAGED LITIGATION OFFERING
Eliminating the challenges of managing litigation

Disputes form a part of any organisation's wider business and the efficient management and resolution of these, in a manner which is aligned with the ethos of the business and within the confines of ever-tightening legal budgets, is an essential part of doing business today. When that business is carried out internationally, the cross-border nature of disputes, and the multiple jurisdictions often in a distance from the in-house legal team, and also sometimes involving cross-border elements, becomes a critical aspect of the process, impacting significantly on outcome and cost.

With over 1,400 specialist dispute resolution lawyers, complemented by an extensive network of relationship firms, DLA Piper has one of the largest and most comprehensive dispute resolution practices in the world. Through our managed litigation service we can take care of all of your litigation needs wherever they arise. Our service addresses the problems and demands of co-ordinating several law firms and practitioners with a single point of contact who will manage your litigation needs worldwide. This ensures that your litigation is handled in a consistent and cost-effective manner. Whatever problems you face, wherever they occur, we are best placed to assist.
